In a study by the University of Chicago, researchers discovered that when a person reads to a child, "...in a matter of seconds, thousands of cells in these children's growing brains respond. Some brain cells are 'turned on,' triggered by this particular experience. Many existing connections among brain cells are strengthened. At the same time, new brain cells are formed, adding a bit more definition and complexity to the intricate circuitry that will remain largely in place for the rest of these children's lives."

"The librarians at the AnyTown Public Library helped me immensely when I needed information about starting my new business. I doubt I would have got it off the ground without them."

Summer library program: Reading Excitement!

Studies show that children who read succeed. And kids who attend public library programs like this year's "Join the Winner's Circle" not only maintain or improve their reading skills, but have fun too!

Internet usage increases with introduction of new online resources

More people are using the Internet to access information they need for school and work, health and recreation. The Anytown Public Library recently subscribed to EBSCOhost, a database that with links to thousands of magazines, newspapers, journals and graphics. Many customers are using this comprehensive, easy-to-use resource to get information on nearly any topic.
