

Plone Content Types

 Collections – a folderish content type that executes a search, according to specified criteria, of the web site and displays the results

 Cover – a unique content type for creating elaborate covers for website homepages

 Event – Anything that is added to a calendar is considered an event. A published event is displayed in the calendar view

 File – Any content that isn't a Web page document and that is in file format is a file

 Folder – Although it is not content in the strictest sense of the word, a folder is a container for content

 Form – A folder that contains elements of a web form. Elements are the action adapters, the questions and a thank you page.

 Image – A graphical file – JPEG, GIF, PNG and is added as the image content type

 Link – This content type holds local URLs or URLs to external web sites

 News Item – A news item is used to call attention to something. This item is then added to the news tab.

 Page – A multipurpose content type that can be used for text, tables, graphics, or anything that goes on a web page